East Kingston Man Is Moved With Marella to N. Y. in F.B.I. Kidnap Case

A move to test the legality of the arrest and detention of John Ferguelli, 33, of East Kingston, was instituted in New York today by Ferguelli's attorney, Francis Martocci, following his removal from the Ulster county jail to New York yesterday.

Summer Frost Line Takes In Broad Portion of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)
Summer, after cutting a variety of climatic capers for three months, went on its final binge of 1947 today, chilling a wide section of the country as the second tropical storm in a week struck Florida's west coast.

The frost line on the last morning of the summer season extended from northeastern Illinois and southern Michigan eastward across Ohio and northeastward into New York and the New England states.

Temperatures dipped to below freezing in many parts of the cool area, with a 25 above in Utica, N. Y., the chilliest spot on the Federal Weather Bureau's map.

The mercury also was below the 32-degree mark in Curwensville, Pa., Cadillac, Mich., Goshen, Ind., East Liverpool, O., Chicago's 36 reading was the coldest Sept. 23 on record. The previous mark of 38 occurred on Sept. 23, 1887.

C54 Makes Flight Over Atlantic; No One Is at Controls

Push-Button Handling Proves Perfect, Plane Comes in on Beam and Lands

By JAMES J. STREIBIG (Associated Press Aviation Editor)

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The push-button flight of an air force C54 across the North Atlantic may point the way to railroad regularity for airlines and the elimination of human error in the cockpit.

The four-engine Skymaster, known as "The Big Push," flew 2,400 miles from Stephenville, Nfld., to Brize Norton Airport in England yesterday without a hand on the controls after the starting button was touched.

A crew of nine rode along "just in case," and there were five passengers, including some British observers.

While the venture brought immediate speculation of push-button atomic warfare, the air force regards it only as part of an extensive study into the problems of all-weather flying, centered at Clinton County Airport, Wilmington, Ohio.

"The Big Push" has made a number of shorter flights under conditions similar to the Atlantic crossing. These included "hands off" trips to Wilmington from Mitchell Field, L. I.; Washington (D.C.) National Airport; Andrews Field, Md., and Long Beach, Calif.

The air force hopes to develop a method which will permit the pilot to serve only as a monitor in bad weather, reducing if not actually eliminating the human element so often blamed for crashes.

Procedure Described
An air force officer said the flight of "The Big Push" proceeded in this manner:

The control mechanism, which operates 20 different items in the airplane, was fully adjusted, the motors were run up for test, and the plane was taxiing to the end of the runway and headed for take-off.

Then the master switch was thrown, after which "not even so much as a little finger was placed by any human being on the mechanism." Automatically, the throttles were pushed to takeoff position, and after eight seconds the Reds Open New Attack On the U.S.

Vishinsky Says Marshall Gave an "Incorrect" Explanation on the Korean Deadlock

Lie's Appeal

Asks Big Powers to Compromise Their Differences

By MAX HARRELSON

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Russia launched a new broadside against the United States today after Secretary-General Trygve Lie in an extraordinary appeal called on the bitterly quarreling big powers to bury their differences in the interest of peace among the United Nations.

Andrei V. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, opened his new offensive by charging Secretary of State Marshall gave an "incorrect" explanation of the big power deadlock on Korean independence.

He then assailed Marshall—who was sitting before him for supporting U. N. consideration of recommendations for revision of the Italian peace treaty. Vishinsky charged that any action on this question was a violation of the U. N. charter.

Demands on Korea, Italy
Vishinsky spoke as the 55-nation General Assembly began debate on its formidable agenda, which already had been approved by the assembly's 14-nation steering committee over Soviet opposition on some sections. He demanded conclusion of the items on Korea and Italy.

Lie closed the assembly's week-long general debate with a plea to the big powers to compromise their differences which he said were a "big lie" and hate throughout the world and crippling the U. N.

Meanwhile, the Arab countries lost the first round of the Palestine battle when the assembly overrode their objections to creation of a special 55-nation committee to consider the Palestine question.

"The indispensable condition for peace," Lie told the 55 national delegations, "is that nations with different social systems and different interests shall strive to live and to work together, side by side, in peace."

"This must find expression in political negotiations, which show a willingness to compromise. Without such a will, without cooperation and agreement, let me emphasize that no mechanism for the maintenance of international peace and security, however perfect, can be effective."

There is widespread fear among U. N. diplomats that unless Moscow and Washington can be persuaded to drop their differences, a common purpose the showdown now developing may lead to an actual break-up of the U. N. organization as it is at present constituted.

These fears were given new point today by a report from authoritative Soviet informants that Russia might boycott the proposed new Assembly Security Committee if the United States succeeded, as expected, in persuading the Assembly to create such an agency.

Boycott Possible
The Russians have declared their unqualified opposition to the committee plan, put forward by Secretary of State Marshall, and some western delegation officials said they considered a Soviet boycott entirely possible. The Russians, however, have not made any such threat officially.

The general air of crisis and tension provided a background not only for Lie's attack but also for the return here of Secretary Marshall, who conferred in Washington yesterday with President Truman on food conditions in Europe. Marshall arranged a meeting of American delegation leaders, presumably to report on his talk with the President insofar as it concerned American policy in the United Nations.

It appeared that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was preparing a new blast, by way of rebuttal to British and American arguments, to follow up his "war-monger" speech of last Thursday.

Would Talk Again
As yesterday afternoon's session drew to a close Vishinsky inquired of a Soviet ally President Truman's attitude.

U.S. Demands Yugoslavs Return Officer, Soldiers

Headquarters Says Three Men Were Taken Captive While on Patrol Duty on Trieste Territory Frontier

Trieste, Sept. 23 (AP)—United States army headquarters in Trieste today demanded the return of an American officer and two enlisted men who, it said, were taken captive by Yugoslavs while on mounted patrol duty on the Trieste free territory frontier yesterday and "forced across the border at gunpoint."

An official report issued by headquarters of U. S. troops in Trieste said the missing men were patrolling near the sector where Yugoslavs last week tried to force their way into the free territory.

The army announcement identified the trio as First Lt. William Van Atten, East Orange, N. J.; Pfc. Earl G. Hendrick, Arlington, Va., and Pfc. Glen A. Myers, Edgeley, N. D.

Van Atten was caught in a Yugoslav ambush in July, 1946, on the road between Gorizia and Trieste, the army report said. His driver was killed and he and an enlisted man were wounded.

The official army account of yesterday's occurrence is as follows: "The report of the incident came from the other two members of the patrol, Pfc. Edison T. Lenhart, Southbury, Conn., and Pfc. George E. Perry, Fort Thomas, Ky., who dashed to the 35th Regimental Headquarters with the news."

"While leading his patrol along the frontier, Van Atten sighted a Yugoslav patrol with whom he and his men had talked before and appeared to be on good terms. Van Atten and two enlisted men dismounted and approached the Yugoslav patrol."

"They were seen talking with the Yugoslavs at a distance of 30 to 35 feet from the Yugoslavs. Then they were seen to go forward, while the Yugoslavs pointed rifles at them."

Merchants Plan Big Event to Dedicate North Front Street
Port Ewen Fife, Drum Corps to Be on Parade

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock merchants along North Front street will be prepared to welcome a throng to their official opening of the street which has been widened, repaired and repaved this summer.

A program of interest has been arranged and there will be merchandise valued at over $1,000 given away to adults who attend the official opening ceremonies. These articles donated by merchants on the street have been on display in the stores for the past several days and on Wednesday evening will be grouped in a large display at a central point. Four barrels will be conveniently placed for the deposit of the free slips which will enable the public to participate in the prizes.

It was announced today that there would be several surprises on the program and one of them was revealed today when it became known that the Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps would be on the program. The members will parade from Academy Park to North Front street and after marching the length of the street will leave the Academy Park at 7:30 o'clock and proceed directly to North Front street for the drill.

North Front street for its entire length is gay with flags, banners and pennants which have been strung from curb to curb. There will be special illumination and the Fire Department will illuminate the street with two searchlights and colored flood lights.

Festivities will begin at 8 o'clock and the program will include music by Johnny Michaels and his Barn orchestra which will play from a band stand erected by the city at the head of Crown street. For those who care to there will be dancing. A program of movies is also scheduled for the evening and the committee in charge has arranged for parking at the Crown street terminal grounds and also in the Montgomery Ward parking grounds. There will be no parking on North Front street during the celebration.

The celebration committee today announced that it expected a contingent of army men with a sound truck and large army searchlights to be present for the official opening of North Front street.

Most Acute Menace Is Over Mucklands; Mississippi Is Digging Out

Miami, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP)—Florida's second tropical storm in a week, nothing yet to compare with the disastrous first, hit the west coast today and swirled north-northeastward threatening the peninsula with flooding rain and the Atlantic coast to the north perhaps with destructive winds.

At 4:45 a. m. (E.S.T.), the weather bureau placed its crest 45 miles south of Tampa with its strongest blasts 50 to 60 miles an hour, not half the velocity that raked the state from east to west some six days ago.

The bureau said it probably would strike the Atlantic ocean near Daytona Beach this afternoon with gathering fury. It hoisted storm warnings from Fernandina, Fla., to Moultrieville, S. C., and warned small craft to stay in port from Moultrieville to Hatteras, N. C.

The new storm with its far-flung perimeter was between a breeze and a gale, although sharp blows came at intervals as it edged inland over several west coast cities. It sent down rain in torrents at most places.

Mucklands Menaced
Its most acute menace apparently hung over the rich Okeechobee mucklands where the inhabitants already struggled wearily with relentless water from earlier downpours. Farmers, business men, Jamaican laborers and convicts worked side by side to patch canal dikes from stay the water from four towns and 30,000 vegetable-growing acres.

The towns in danger were Belle Glade, Pahokee, Canal Point and South Bay—centers of the truck growing industry.

The apparent mildness of the newest blow from the Caribbean was a relief to south Floridians who with Gulf coast residents to the north suffered at least 44 deaths and $75,000,000 property damage in last week's visitation.

New York Spokesman Backs Boost in Farm Milk Prices

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—A spokesman for New York city milk dealers was on record today as supporting a proposed increase in farm milk prices to prevent diversion of the metropolitan area's supply to other markets.

Edward O. Mather, executive director of the Milk Dealer's Association of metropolitan New York, testified yesterday before Glen J. Gifford, examiner for the Agriculture Department, that the proposed increase of 44 cents per 100 pounds would hike retail prices one cent a quart.

But at present, Mather said, markets such as Rochester, Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and Connecticut and northern New Jersey cities are paying higher prices than New York and are "daily enticing producers away from the New York market."

"As milk dealers, we are, of course, as seriously concerned with the price of milk as are all the segments of our society," Mather said at the hearing.

"It therefore is with the great-

Smaller Grain Loads Abroad Also Are Under Consideration at Capital

To Have Statement President Will Make Report Soon on Food Situation

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—President Truman is weighing recommendations today for voluntary food rationing at home and smaller grain shipments abroad as the most feasible approach to soaring domestic prices and threatened unrest overseas.

Any attempt to keep grain exports at the record levels of earlier months would require a return to rigid wartime controls and only Congress could restore them, Mr. Truman's food cabinet committee told the chief executive yesterday.

Hence the group composed of Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Commerce Harriman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson proposed that the government: (A) Place a ceiling of between 450,000,000 and 500,000,000 bushels on foreign shipments this crop year (B) set up a voluntary conservation program in this country and (C) try to find some way to augment European diets with costlier but less scarce foods.

The information came from officials in a position to know but not to be quoted. The White House itself was silent except to say that Mr. Truman will have a statement on world food problems "in a few days."

Remains to Be Seen
Whether that statement will cover the whole field of emergency aid to Europe and settle the issue of whether there is to be a special session of Congress remains to be seen.

The food committee's meeting with Mr. Truman to submit its report was only one of a series yesterday dealing with steps that may be necessary before Congress can get around to considering the long-range Marshall plan for European recovery.

Food looms large in both the storage and long range pictures. "The State Department, stressing what it regards as the seriousness of the shortage abroad and the necessity of providing supplies to prevent friendly governments from falling prey to Communism, has been pressing for an export goal larger than last year's.

Shipments from last year's crops totaled more than 17,000,000 tons, including about 575,000,000 bushels of grain. Wheat exports alone were slightly more than 400,000,000 bushels.

(The 17,000,000 tons exported last year represented all foodstuffs. Grains formed approximately 15,000,000 tons of the total.)

Both Gave Ground
In drafting yesterday's report to Mr. Truman, both the State and Agriculture Departments apparently gave ground.

Anderson is reported to have emphasized the effects of this year's short crop on grain supplies and food prices in concluding that it would be impossible to meet last year's exports without returning to dark days, forbidding the use of grain for alcoholic beverages, restricting the use of grains in feed and cutting down on the size of bread loafs.

Both Marshall and Harriman are said to have agreed with Anderson that neither the public nor Congress would be willing to resort to such measures.

The State Department then came down on its export goal and Anderson came up somewhat on his estimate on the quantity of grain which could be spared for export.

While taking the viewpoint that a voluntary food rationing program would not accomplish much saving, Anderson is reported to have agreed to go along with the idea.

Thus, if Mr. Truman follows the committee's recommendations, consumers will be asked to eat less meat and other livestock Continued on Page Five Jerusalem, Sept. 23 (AP)—British troops and police searched through the Yemeneite Jewish quarters of Jerusalem early today, interrupting pre-Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) services in at least two synagogues. Military authorities said the congregations were given an hour to complete their services, and when they were not finished in time those present were asked to leave and the soldiers then combed the premises.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HALL BOYLE
New York, (AP)—This is a true story of a young man who found and lost a dream apartment.

Ever since he returned from overseas, he had walked the dream of the national house. He lit in more places than he had with the paratrooper. His only address was portable—his suitcase.

He haunted so many real estate offices that in one he was bawled out for coming in after ten o'clock. They had seen him around so often they thought he was an employ.

Some weeks ago a friend tipped him off on how he could get into one of the fancy new cave dwelling halls going up in Manhattan. It had twenty applications for every apartment, but after days of negotiating, pleading and threatening to commit hari-kari on the doorstep, it looked like he was set.

"Of course, you're married?" asked the apartment house manager, pointing out that only families were acceptable as tenants.

Dogs, old maids and bachelors were barred.

"Uh-h-h-h," said the young man, thinking fast. "I'm engaged, but my fiancée and I can't get married until we have a place to move into."

"Of course," purred the manager ominously. "In that case, we'll have to check into the situation."

The young man, who until then had regarded matrimony as an affliction slightly less desirable than smallpox, gave the manager the name and address of his current girl friend.

He then rushed to a phone, made a luncheon date with her and proposed—somewhere between the vichy solise and pils a la mode.

"Looky, you gotta marry me," he said. "I have to get that apartment."

She looked in his eyes and saw therein not love, but a desperate longing for his own easy chair and a place to park his razor. So, as women will, she let him have the hammer right on the forehead.

"Bill," she said, naming his rival.

val, "Asked me yesterday to marry him, and furthermore, I am going to."

The young man took that blow more philosophically than she liked.

"But you owe me something," he said. "You've got to help me. You've got to pose as my fiancée—at least until I get into that apartment. Then I can tell the manager later you jilted me, and I won't get thrown out."

Indignant at first, she finally agreed to play her part in the ruse. The apartment manager's sleuth came around, corroborated the engagement, and finally the young man received notice to show up with his fiancée by a certain date if he wanted his apartment.

He called the girl but was unable to reach her. He was frantic when he finally located her—just an hour before the lease-signing deadline.

"We have to hurry down to sign up," he told her. "It's no go unless you're along."

"I can't go through with it," she said.

Dumfounded, the young man stormed, threatened and then got down on his verbal knees before the rock wall of her resistance.

To no avail, she told him happily. "Bill, heard so much about that building he finally went down and applied for an apartment for us. I can't do anything now that would hurt our own chance to get in."

C.I.O. Board Takes Action Against Reuther

Detroit, Sept. 23 (AP)—Action by the C.I.O. United Auto Workers international executive board to rebuke President Walter P. Reuther was asked today by his three top aides who charged they had been subjected to "unwarranted slanders."

The three vice-presidents R. J. Thomas and Richard T. Leonard and Secretary-Treasurer George F. Addes—presented a resolution yesterday to the union's top board, accusing Reuther of "betraying the trust of his high office" in statements he made for publication in the last issue of the union's official newspaper, the United Auto Worker.

Their proposal was debated at length by the 22-man executive board meeting here, but the group delayed a vote until today. The Addes-Thomas faction usually holds a 2-1 majority.

In his "report to the membership" Reuther did not name the high-ranking trio, but charged top U.A.W. officers with promoting "tragic factionalism" within the union and being responsible for a "scandalous waste" of union funds. He also stated they had prevented an ouster of certain Communists from the U.A.W.

Elizabeth, Philip May Have Quiet, Scarcity 'Trip'

London, Sept. 23 (AP)—The world's most famous romantic couple—Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten—may have to be content with a quiet honeymoon in this land of scarcity.

Behind such an enforced expedient, if widespread opinion in well-posted circles proves correct, lies a royal resolution to abide by Britain's revised code of austerity, more severe in some respects than wartime restrictions.

It is known that King George VI has insisted upon fullest economy in the spending of money, the use of materials and facilities, and the employment of labor. Anything less, it is authoritatively represented, would be improper and unfair to a scrimping public.

Prior to the recent imposition of a ban on all foreign pleasure travel, Elizabeth and her fiancé considered spending at least part of their wedding holiday abroad, possibly in Norway, with Princess Elizabeth's great-uncle, King Haakon. Unofficial reports have it that the king decided against a special dispensation for a member of the royal family.

A trip to any of the British dominions would fall outside these restrictions, but it would be expensive. What is more, although thrift is the prime consideration, another factor would be a desire scrupulously to avoid any suggestion, however dim, that one part of the commonwealth and empire was being favored over another.

Thus, in the end, the choice probably will be a country house, in the usually more clement south of England, which would be offered by friends of the royal family for as long as the couple wished to remain in it.

No Official Clue
Official comment has been limited to the absolute disclaimer, "we haven't a clue where they will spend their honeymoon."

The public may not know where Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Mountbatten are going until they actually have arrived at their destination.

That would be all right with those who favor an uncompromising austerity, opposing undue fuss. Opposed to this conviction, though, is no small weight of opinion which argues that another heiress to the throne will not be getting married for a long time, and that the public as well as Princess Elizabeth deserves an unqualifiedly royal wedding.

The reasoning is like this: "Our lives are drab enough, and there's not much hope of improvement soon, so let's make a splash and try to forget our troubles."

To which is added by large numbers wanting plenty of pomp and ceremony.

Brody, Auditore Gain in Move To Upset Terms

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—I. James Brody, former commissioner of marine and aviation, and James V. Auditore, erstwhile boss stevedore, have advanced a step in a move to upset their conviction and prison terms of from four and a half to ten years in the city pier lease trial.

State Supreme Court Justice Botwin, saying the trial had produced legal questions which "warrant the serious consideration" of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, granted the two men certificates of reasonable doubt yesterday.

They were convicted last month of accepting $16,987 in unlawful fees in the sub-letting of city-owned piers.

Justice Botwin stated that there should be a review of the fact that only Brody could have violated a statute prohibiting a public official from accepting money in connection with his office, because Auditore was not an official.

Botwin also stated that General Sessions Judge Jacob Gould Schurman told the jury in his charge that if it found a conspiracy had existed it did not have to find that Brody actually received money during the alleged transactions.

The charge, Botwin commented, ruled that the alleged crime was consummated when money was paid by shippers to a firm operated by Auditore and a third defendant, Al Gross, and the justice said this point also should be reviewed.

Gross, a state witness against the other two defendants, pleaded guilty and is scheduled for sentencing October 15.

Botwin said he would hear at a later date an application for bail for Brody and Auditore.

Nickel Is First German Exchange Student Since War

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Hermann Nickel registers at Union College today as the first German foreign exchange student to come to the United States since World War two.

The slim, blonde youth who plans to study political science under a four-year scholarship, arrived at Union last night and was assigned to a dormitory room with two American students, Dick Snyder of Scarsdale and Bob Woodruff of Northbrook, Ill.

Nickel, who arrived in New York Sunday from his home at Dahlem, a Berlin suburb, said he was "just lucky" to be here. He was selected after a two-year investigation by the army and State Department and pronounced free of Nazism. His board and room will be paid by the Schenectady Rotary Club while he is at the college.

Assigned to a room in South College of the Union campus, his arrival at the dormitory caused a little excitement among the other students.

His roommates helped him make up his bunk bed. When he arrived in New York Sunday, he said that one of the reasons his family rejected Nazism was that his mother is half Jewish. The family also belonged to the parish of Pastor Martin Niemöller, the Luther foe of the Nazis.

Nickel, however, was forced to join the Hitler Youth for three years and, in 1945, with other high school boys, he was drafted as an auxiliary in an anti-aircraft battery.

When he finishes college, he said, he wants to go into journalism. He worked for several months this year in the Berlin bureau of "Die Neue Zeitung," American military government newspaper.

Desmond Urges Anti-Falls Drive Via Care, Education

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, citing falls as the No. 1 accidental killer of New York's old folks, urged today a campaign against such "needless death and injury."

Desmond, chairman of the joint legislative committee on problems of the aging, recommended improved home construction to provide greater safety for elderly residents and an educational program to instruct them in "safer living."

The Newburgh Republican declared that more than 2,000 of the state's oldest would be killed this year in accidental falls which he said would cause two-thirds of the fatal accidents involving persons 65 and over.

His report also noted: 1. Falls cause four out of five fatal home accidents for the aged, followed by burns and poisons as the next ranking killers.

2. Elderly persons are safer in New York city than they are outside the metropolis. New York city's annual toll of fatal home accidents is 900, against 1,200 in the remainder of the state, and deaths of elderly workers from occupational accidents are only half the total outside of the city.

3. One out of three pedestrians fatally injured by motor vehicles is 65 and over.

4. Twice as many elderly men as women are injured in accidents of all types.

Although calling upon elderly persons to exercise more care in their daily life, Desmond declared: "Much of the blame also rests upon the dangerous construction of many homes, the youngster who leaves toys scattered over the floor, and the home repairs which grampa undertakes himself."

He said homes for oldsters should be constructed on one floor if possible, using ramps instead of staircases, and should be well lighted.

The committee, Desmond added, will ask the newly-organized state safety division to aid in an educational program to instruct elderly persons.

Route 1 Traffic Tied Up by Wreck

Saybrook, Conn., Sept. 23 (AP)—Traffic on U. S. Route 1 began moving again early today after being tied up several hours by an automobile which became wedged between the highway and an open drawbridge over the Connecticut river here.

The accident happened about 8:30 p. m. (E.D.T.) last night, forcing traffic over the main Boston-New York highway to detour by way of bridges over the river at East Haddam or Middletown. A wrecking crew removed the automobile with a crane shortly before 1 a. m.

State police said the driver, identified as Timothy E. Shea, 32, and a passenger, identified as Catherine Inos, both of New London, escaped unhurt.

Methodists Convene At Springfield Church

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 23 (AP)—Springfield became the center of world Methodism today as 400 delegates from both hemispheres arrived for the opening tomorrow of a nine-day ecumenical Methodist Conference, the first in 16 years.

The conferences are held at 10 year intervals but the 1941 meeting scheduled for Oxford, England, was called off because of the war. This year's conference was transferred to the United States because of the food and housing shortage in England.

Joining with representatives of 8,500,000 United States Methodists will be delegates from Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, Great Britain, Europe, China, India, Africa, the Philippine Islands, Australia and New Zealand.

Under discussion will be the progress of Methodism since the last world conference in Atlanta, Ga., in 1931, and the church's opportunity for service in the post-war era. Meetings will be held at beautiful Trinity Methodist Church in the Forest Park section.

LOCAL RETAIL STORES

An overall picture of the extent of acceptance of local retail stores by people in the Kingston area may be seen in figures released in the current Sales Management survey. Expenditures in Kingston retail stores totaled $30,663,000 in 1946, a sharp increase over the previous year's $21,550,000.

Food purchases, a principal index of living standards, accounted for most of each dollar spent in Kingston. The food bill was $9,410,000, far above the $6,635,000 of 1945.

The other retail categories investigated in the survey—general merchandise and drugs—also stamp Kingston a quality market. Purchases of general merchandise rose to $5,602,000 a gain over the $3,747,000 of 1945. Drug store buying reached a peak of $925,000 an increase over the previous year's $739,000.

The Freeman, which is used as a medium to present the advertising message of the local stores, is happy to present these figures showing the strong position here as a trading center.

There is nothing magical about newspaper advertising. The Freeman has some 12,000 subscribers, who in all probability read the paper or they would not buy it. There are merchants here who rely mainly for the greater share of their business on the readers of this newspaper. The natural thing, which the merchant does, is to tell these people about his goods through the columns of the newspaper.

A newspaper must have a good coverage of its field to be of use to the merchant. No newspaper can guarantee merchants a certain amount of business. What the newspaper can guarantee to merchants is a certain number of readers.

CHANGING RACES

A Madison, Wis., minister has publicly disowned his status as a white man and assumed membership in the Negro race. The purpose of this extraordinary assertion was to dramatize the pastor's campaign against racial discrimination.

The minister is serving a worthy cause, but it is difficult to believe he has done as much good as harm. His announcement will probably be widely misunderstood. It is obviously nonsense to talk of changing races voluntarily. If such changes were possible there would be no racial problems. Everyone would naturally join the race of the highest esteem.

Anthropologists have not yet disentangled racial and cultural distinctions. Race is not cast aside by an act of renunciation or an act of faith. The minister has obviously indulged in a stunt to get attention which may backfire. The problem caused by combinations of racial and cultural differences is not going to be solved by publicity stunts.

FARMERS CO-OPERATE

American farmers visiting England to get first-hand knowledge of agricultural conditions have found the farmers there more sporting in their attitude than those in certain European nations.

In some countries the black market gets a large proportion of the farm produce, bringing higher profits to the growers, but forcing privation on a large portion of the population. British farmers, on the other hand, are turning in all the wheat they can raise, playing fair with the consumer and with the government.

The attitude of the agricultural group might be profitably copied by miners, builders, transportation workers and others whose co-operation with their government has been lukewarm at the best. In order to make any form of government work it must be supported wholeheartedly.

HOBBYTIME

"I have found that all people in the world who are dull in their conversation and hateful to look at are those who have no hobbies." This was said in the 16th century by a Chinese philosopher, Yuang Chung Lung. It may be a bit sweeping, but it seems to stand up pretty well.

This is the time of year to start developing

'These Days'

MURDER FOR CHILDREN

The National Broadcasting Company has reached the conclusion that a heavy diet of murder for children is not particularly beneficial to them, their parents or the country in which they live. They will postpone murder until 9:30 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, after January 1. Children interested in murder may have their fill of it until the new schedule goes into effect, although it is difficult to understand why if murder on the radio for children becomes carbolic acid on January 1, it is not carbolic acid today.

Meanwhile, it seems that Columbia, Mutual and American disagree with N.B.C. They, it would appear, believe that murder is good for children at any time of the day or night, along with chewing gum, breakfast foods, and exterminators of body odors. That is why so many children put up their forefinger and make a noise like a machine gun. It is extremely stimulating to the young mind to make a noise like a machine gun. How often have I listened to the most enlightening conversations, lofty in tone and mood, on the relative merits of "The Green Hornet" and "The Falcon," or whether "Gang Busters" is more exciting than "Murder Is My Hobby." And murder has become a hobby if a small boy does it to prove that he is not a sissy.

The networks will undoubtedly debate the educational value of murder during the next few months and maybe another Vice-President will lose his job, but it would be preferable if this subject were seriously discussed by parents, educators and clergymen who have a direct concern with the morals of their charges and who know that the radio cannot be suppressed in the home without creating such a rumpus as many parents seek to dodge.

If wickedness is to be kept from the child until it has, at any rate, passed out of puberty and to the verge of discretion—murder, foul, brutal murder, often related in a nonchalant, calm manner, as though to the manner born—such recitals of murder must be kept from the home at the source of supply.

One of the officials of a radio network—does it matter which—asked why soap operas are not kept from the ears of children? I ask you, why not? That was a very good question, probably spoken from the heart.

If one listened only to the radio, say for a week, he could easily convince himself that in the United States murder is a usual occurrence, happening at half-hour intervals, that most marriages are utter failures, that while crime does not pay, it nevertheless is extremely interesting, that there is always a third wheel to every chariot—meaning each family—that the greatest concern of wise women is to help young ladies out of scrapes with married men.

On a Sunday afternoon, during the Winter, crime ones on early, or the assumption, I suppose, that no one goes to church any more, certainly not to vespers. What a beautiful family picture: Mother is reading a 25-cent book on murder; father is listening to one murder on a network and John and Jane to another. Thus, the Sabbath is devoted to holy thoughts and polite doings, particularly when some raucous, eerie laugh comes into the room.

In the long run, the N.B.C. will be proved right, for parents have been discussing this question for a long time, particularly at 2:00 A. M. when they are awakened by a screaming child, who has just been dreaming that "they're gonna get me."

I once threatened to solve this problem in my own home by throwing every radio out of the window. But a child told me that "The law would get me cold for that. I realized that I was a quarter of a century too late."

Apparently there is too little imagination in radio management and writing. In the good old days of Keith and Proctor, they would never have tolerated the dull sameness of the patter week after week. It gets so, it is possible to tell what each one will do as soon as the program opens—so we turn on the records.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PAIN IN SHOULDER

During World War I a number of patients complained of pain in the back of the neck, shoulder, down the arm with tingling of the fingers. While lack of calcium (lime) in the diet is the cause of these symptoms in some cases, most physicians and surgeons believe them due to pressure somewhere near the root of the nerve as it emerges from the spinal cord.

Thus, a number of these cases were found to be due to what was called a cervical rib—that is, one of the cervical (neck) bones had a bony process extending from it with the shape of a rib. This bony process pressed on the nerve supplying neck, shoulder, arm and fingers. Removal of this bony growth or extra "rib" gave relief from the pain and other symptoms.

A few years later it was found that even where an extra rib was not present, an excess of fibrous tissue in muscle in this region caused pressure on the nerve, and the same symptoms occurred.

I have written before of symptoms somewhat similar occurring from a deposit of lime under the shoulder cap, the removal of which by surgery or withdrawal by a special spraying gave relief. Some of these cases were relieved of their symptoms by alcohol injections into the shoulder.

Some months ago I wrote about reports of physicians and physio-therapy experts who found that many patients with these symptoms—pain in the shoulder and arm, tingling and clumsiness of fingers—obtained relief when they stood erect with shoulders well back; this relieved pressure against the nerve. A good erect posture gave complete relief within a matter of weeks or months.

The sagging shoulders may be caused by carelessness.

Resting the arm in a sling during the day and lying in bed with arm extended on bed at the height of or a little higher than the shoulder, gives relief.

Don't suffer from these pressure symptoms. Your physician can refer you to an orthopedist, or to a nerve specialist; after the X-ray film shows other treatment than his to be necessary.

a hobby. In most cities craft classes are available under guidance of local colleges, the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., forward-looking churches, public schools and other community groups. Oldest Land Right

One of the white man's oldest land rights in the United States is marked by an inscription on a rock at South Mountain, near Phoenix, Ariz. The inscription, placed there by Father Marcos de Niza, in 1539, claimed the land for Spain 80 years before the Mayflower came.

Under the law of Great Britain, the "queen consort" is a subject of her husband.

So They Say...

"We have an industrial plant that can't be found anywhere in the world. This is an element of military strength and one, I think, that attracted great respect from other people in World War II."

It is our duty to provide a program involving participation by all able-bodied young American men under universal military training.

—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

If you want to estimate the strength of a nation, it is by the dispersal of its industrial potential that you can evaluate the possibilities of this nation to make war.

—Marshall Viscount Montgomery, chief of Britain's Imperial General Staff.

"This Socialist attempt at the conscription of labor is only a passing phase. Britain will rise again in all her strength and freedom."

Europe Will Be Lucky if Congress Gives 50 Per Cent of Sumas Asked Under Marshall Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 23—The 16 European governments asking for help under the Marshall plan will be lucky if Congress appropriates 50 per cent of the sum requested. Likewise, it is unrealistic to assume that Congress is going to adopt a four-year plan. Under the American constitutional system, Congress is in session for no longer than two years and no Congress can bind a successor Congress.

This means that nobody can make such a commitment by a majority vote of both Houses. Even if the Marshall plan is embodied in the form of a treaty, requiring two-thirds vote of the Senate for ratification, it would require a majority vote of both Houses to appropriate any money for this purpose and, again, no Congress can make a four-year commitment.

The fact that President Truman and Secretary Marshall promise American aid for four years might weigh considerably with succeeding officials but if circumstances change and it appears that the European countries are not fulfilling their part of the program, the decision with respect to continuance of appropriations would rest with each session of Congress.

The trend of American opinion, of course, is toward granting aid to Europe for rehabilitation and relief. There is a substantial majority of Republicans and Democrats in Congress who favor the principle of American aid to Europe. No issue of "isolationism" has appeared as yet and is not likely to color the debate in any important aspect.

But on the basis of information available thus far, the Marshall program will have a hard sledding. The days of "lend-lease" and "blank checks," when all that Europe had to do was ask and the administration handed out billions of dollars, would appear to be over. Such laxity was considered justified in the time. It is not readily justified in peacetime—at least not to the satisfaction of a Congress which wants to see facts and figures.

Many members of Congress are in Europe investigating the situation. They will have much to do with influencing the decision of their colleagues. Judging from the numbers heard in Washington in recent weeks, there is much skepticism about the extent of the aid to be forthcoming.

It is not doubted that the European countries could use up to $22,000,000,000 and even more, but it is doubted whether this amount is necessary and whether more of the total sum cannot be furnished in the way of production of goods by the Europeans themselves.

The hysteria and cries of alarm which have been set up in dispatches from abroad have been harmful to the Marshall plan. Those who think they can high-pressure the American Congress into appropriating billions just on the say-so of a round table conference in Paris or anywhere else will be disillusioned when the debate starts.

The fears repeatedly expressed in a series of alarms that America must hurry or aid will be too late will not accelerate action here. It may stampede the department of State, which shows an inclination to rush the plan through by creating a wartime emergency atmosphere, but it will not stampede Congress.

President Truman will call a special session of Congress for December 1st at the latest, but it is highly probable that the debate will last at least two or three months anyway. There may be stop-gap aid in the form of food relief, but when it comes to direct loans for rehabilitation on anything like the scale of the preliminary report received from the conference at Paris, it is a safe bet that Congress isn't going to be hurried in discussing the report or in taking comprehensive testimony on the subject.

The big obstacle to the adoption of the Marshall Plan may be the inability of Europe to furnish assurances as to what will be done with the money. It will be charged that this is a violation of sovereignty and so on, but the bankers who lend money without knowing what the borrower will do with it, or without some method of checking on its subsequent use, is not very careful of his depositors' money. There are some members of Congress—strange as it may seem to the spenders in our midst—who feel about the taxpayers' money a degree of interest that is quite different from the banker's feeling about the deposits in his bank. So the European countries might better not start spending the Marshall-plan billions just yet.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
 New York, Sept. 22—I was telling you that Robert Stripling, the chief investigator of the old Dies Committee and now chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, finally was shanghaied into the army. He was the father of a child born before Pearl Harbor and surely was not regarded as a military asset because he put in more than a year as a yardbird, picking up butts and wrappers. For about 1944 it had been almost impossible to give a man to the army because Roosevelt was easing the pressure on the great American home in anticipation of the election. The draft boards manned the rifle pits and drove them off. After election the boards were reactivated and drafting business picked up; rationing tightened and there was a shell shortage in France, soon after Roosevelt had sung his melodious song of military abundance.

But still, the drafting of Mr. Stripling was special political business. At the Washington Bolsheviks' hated him and two regular national broadcasts, done in the guise of news on Sunday nights, clamored at his draft board to fetch him. Stripling was our best authority on the Bolsheviks and their tactics. He was a tough, old-fashioned investigator. You would have thought the army and navy would compete for him as an intelligence officer, but they didn't dare touch him. They tossed rank right and left to hack playwrights and nightclub fakers, but Stripling was in a class by himself. The Great When he took him as a draftee he couldn't even catch on with an outfit for about a year. He was an orphan soldier in the army of his native land. When the old man died Stripling was made a master sergeant and set to teaching a class in subversive activities, getting the chinks out and brandishing cheap stilettoes with a sanguinary motto stamped on the blades. Eleanor invited some nasty young free-loaders to the White House and to her homes and then one day she showed up at a hearing of the Dies Committee to give aid and comfort to her particular house-pet, Joe Lash.

Well, back in 1939, Jerry Voorhis, a California New Deal Congressman who is not a bolo but very glib, had some business at the White House, and passing the Lincoln bedroom, Voorhis saw Joe Lash and Albert Simon, professional chinks in the youth racket, as you might say, at home in the Great Emancipator's old private chamber. Voorhis let out an awful howl for Mr. Big, but a lot of good that did; the old girl out-manned the boss in every contest except one, she served orange blossoms to Roosevelt's personal and official guest, Winston Churchill, a brassy man. In other days that could have started a war.

"My God, Churchill called, 'I am the house of the Borgs,' and spewed it into the rubber plant."

No, wait. That wasn't Churchill. That was John Barrymore the night Gene Fowler's

Ellenville Fire Damages Hotel, Bus Line Office

Ellenville, Sept. 23.—Fire which is said to have been caused by an "explosion," following the lighting of a cigarette, brought the Ellenville Fire Department to the old two-story frame building, corner of Main and Center streets, about 9:30 Thursday night. It was over an hour before the firemen succeeded in bringing the fire under control, as it had spread through the stairway leading to the attic from the second floor and then through the old shingle roof and sheathing which had been left when a tin roof was put on to the building some years ago.

Fire damage was confined mostly to the enclosed stairway, which was burned and to the roof, but there was extensive damage from water to the hotel rooms on the second floor and to the Short Line bus terminal office and waiting room, its restaurant adjoining and a candy shop, all occupying space on the first floor.

The damage from water would have been much worse except for the salvage covers which the firemen had spread to protect furniture, equipment and stock on the first floor.

At the office of the Chertney Agency, which carries the insurance, it was stated today that although their adjuster was at the job promptly Friday afternoon, they were not yet able to give any estimate of the damage sustained.

As to the cause of the fire, they said that the official report showed that it followed an explosion when Jack Lipman, one of the owners of the building, lighted a cigarette. Mr. Lipman was said to have gone to the second floor to get some sugar from a closet, at the request of one of the employees. While there he noticed a light burning in the attic, where employees sometimes sleep. He went up into the attic, turned off the light and started back down the stairway. When about half way down he stopped to light a cigarette, when, according to the report, "the air seemed to explode."

Mr. Lipman was quite badly burned about the side of his face and left arm. He was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, where he is still under treatment. The building is one of the older ones in the village of Ellenville and back as far as 1840 houses the company store of the old Ellenville Glass Co. For many years, up to last May, it was owned and occupied by Mrs. Lillian Schiff for restaurant and hotel purposes. Mrs. Schiff sold the property May 5 to Jack Lipman and Abe Saltzman, the present owners.

10 Per Cent of Apples Damaged by Storm

The wind and rainstorm which swept sections of Ulster county early yesterday morning, hitting the Highland area severely, blew "not more than 10 per cent" of unpicker McIntosh apples off the trees, the County Farm Bureau reported today.

Albert Kurdt, county agricultural agent, said damage was most extensive in Highland, but that nowhere was the situation critical. He said the report of heaviest damage to the apple crop came from Myron S. Hazen, Milton farmer, who told the Farm Bureau that half of his unpicker McIntoshes had been blown off. Hazen called the bureau to ask for extra help, Kurdt said.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One tumultuous week has passed since the western democracies, paced by America, opened their major offensive in the United Nations to focus world attention on the threat to peace produced by Russia's tactics for aggressive expansion of Communism—and already global opinion as represented in the U.N. has rendered a vehement verdict condemning Red methods.

Barring the support of her satellites, the Soviet Union stands virtually alone in this great issue among nations who would like to be its friends. Of course the ultimate objective of the western offensive is to force Russia through public opinion to abandon the methods she has been pursuing, but it remains to be demonstrated whether she will bow to the verdict. There are doubts on that score.

Yesterday Britain, the last of the big five to mount the Assembly rearmament, declared her position through Minister of State Hector McNeill and ranged herself solidly with the United States, who previously had been joined by France and China. So the big five lineup on this issue is America, Britain, France and China versus Russia.

The other nations—having the Soviet dominated countries—also have been flocking about the banner of democracy. McNeill, 37 year old Scotsman who is a protégé of British Foreign Minister Bevin, lined up his country with America in a dramatic address which was directed mainly to Russia. "This quick minded, tough talking young statesman—whose two-listed methods are rather reminiscent of Bevin's—first hammered the Moscowites and then appealed to them to drop what he described as their unyielding attitude toward world problems. The keynote of his speech was this blistering warning:

"If the Soviet government considers that in all areas its power must be extended, if it thinks that in describing any international situations its description must be accepted, then I say without qualification that not only will the United Nations be destroyed, but the unstable peace of the world will crumble and crash bringing us all the raging, hideous consequences to which Mr. Vishinsky drew our attention."

McNeill was referring to the bitter speech made in the Assembly last week by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky, who charged America with war mongering. Yesterday, by the way, Moscow newspapers printed New York dispatches alleging that Vishinsky's address had caused "complete panic and bubbling wrath" among "American reactionaries," pictured as wanting war with Russia.

Meanwhile the Marshall plan, which Russia claims is designed to give America control of western Europe, was being earnestly studied in both Washington and Paris without regard to Soviet opposition. The program developed by the 16 nations in the French capital is divided into two parts. One is a long term proposition under which America would provide $13,330,000,000 through the years 1948-51 for general rehabilitation. The other is an emergency call for food and some other pressing necessities.

These problems are now before President Truman's cabinet, and the chief executive is faced with the task of deciding whether there is sufficient urgency to necessitate the calling of an extra session of Congress in the immediate future. Secretary of State Marshall has indicated that he believes such a session should be called.

Florida's Second

Hardly a beach dwelling was left intact. Poisonous snakes washed up from outlying islands put added burden on rehabilitation workers. Malodorous gases from dead fish and other marine life were another handicap.

New Orleans had a flood scare from the swollen and storm-tossed waters of huge Lake Pontchartrain. But the water level began to drop sharply yesterday and federal engineers stood by to open inlets into the lake and drain off surrounding areas.

The Red Cross estimates that all told 1,200 homes were destroyed in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana and ten times as many damaged. It set aside $1,000,000 for relief swelling the total available to $7,000,000.

In contrast with staggering damage elsewhere, Miami's structural Engineer A. C. E. Gregory placed the total loss here at less than $100,000. That, Gregory said, products to conserve flour and bread, and waste less food. Farmers would be asked to market hogs of lighter weights, to put less "finish" that is, quality—on beef cattle, and to feed less grain to dairy and poultry stock so as to save wheat for export.

The report said last year's food exports could be "just about matched" in calories if ways could be found to finance the shipment of other foods which are more plentiful but which also are more expensive than grain. Such foods include dried and canned fruits, processed vegetables, fruit juices, fats and vegetable oils, sugar, and dried eggs.

In 1880 about four out of every five American workers owned their own land or businesses.

Was confined principally to broken glass, doors, shredded awnings and damaged porches.

Corn Muffins

Start Day Well

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Many readers ask for a good corn muffin recipe. Say their menfolk like them for fall breakfast. Here's a honey of an answer:

Corn Muffins
(Makes 8-12 muffins)

Three-quarters cup sifted flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup cornmeal, 1/4 cup prepared apple, 1 egg, well beaten, 1/3 cup milk, 1/4 cup honey, 3 tablespoons shortening, melted.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add cornmeal. Wash, pare, and cup apples into eighths. Remove core and cut crosswise into very thin slices. Combine egg, milk, honey and shortening. Add all at once to flour-cornmeal mixture, stirring only enough to dampen all flour. Fold in apple. Bake in well-greased 2-inch muffin pans in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes, or until done.

Jellied Fish Ring
(Serves 6)

Fish today is no bargain, exactly. But it's less costly than meat. Try this jellied ring with a tart dressing. It will teach the "fish, no thank you" group to enjoy sea food.

One-quarter cup cold water, 1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/4 cup diced pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 1/2 cups cooked shrimp (sliced) or shredded cooked boneless fish. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Add sugar salt, lemon juice, vinegar and onion juice, stirring until dissolved. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in remaining ingredients.

Pour into ring mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill. When firm, unmold and fill center of ring with salad greens. Serve with any desired dressing.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Steamed plums, soft-cooked eggs, corn muffins, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Tomato and grapefruit juice, pan broiled lamb patties, mashed potatoes, green beans, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, cole slaw, applesauce, gingerbread, coffee, milk.

Predicts Vandenberg
Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—Senator Gurney (R-S.D.) predicted today that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) will emerge as the dark horse Republican presidential nominee for 1948. "I think we will find that the Republican nominating convention will face a deadlock among the several avowed candidates," Gurney told a reporter. "Then I believe the convention will get around to nominating Senator Vandenberg."

Harry J. Beatty, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Conservation association announced today that Monday, Oct. 6 is the last day on which farmers may pay their share of the cost of time to be delivered under the 1947 program.

Mr. Beatty said about 150 farmers have still not completed their orders. "No one has to order time," he said, "but funds have been set aside for those who requested it on their application. If these folk have now decided that they do not need this material, they should say so. The committee can then give additional help to some other farmer."

He went on to say that orders for superphosphate can not be made for these folks until they tell the county office what they want to do about the time.

2 Days to Write License
London, Sept. 23 (AP)—A royal wedding license inscribed by a master penman who took two days to write some two dozen words has been issued for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten on November 20. Calligrapher Henry J. Fisher practiced for hours before beginning the lettering, which was in the ancient style used for legal documents as far back as 1600 but which went out of regular use at the end of the 19th century.

A Birthday Card to The Wife
Dear Mary:
Twenty years we have lived together.
A quiet proof we are birds of a feather.
A breed that is growing scarce of late.
The breed that sticks to just one mate.
We had our little riffs and tiffs
which never grew to actual rifts—just ripples on the deep blue sea
Of Faith and Trust and Constancy.
We saw the lightning's lurid glare.
We heard the thunder's deep-toned blare—
But we also saw the flowers of June
And heard the robin's cheerful tune.
And now upon your Natal Day
Let's turn December into May;
For the ice-box holds a juicy
steak
And Forty Candles for your cake!
Your Old Man.

about the umbrella you borrowed from me last week.
Brown — I'm sorry, old man, but
I lent it to a friend of mine.
Were you wanting it?
Jones — Well, not for myself,
but the fellow I borrowed it from says the owner wants it.

Friend — Why have you the general in such a peculiar pose?
Sculptor — You see, it was started as an equestrian statue, and then the committee found they couldn't afford the horse.

Wife (with new car) — Now, remember, Herbert, the brake is on the left—or is it the right—but don't.

Husband — For heaven's sake stop chattering. Your job is to smile at the policeman!

Taxi Driver — Cup of coffee, doughnuts, and some griddle cakes.
Waitress — Cylinder oil, couple of non-skid, and an order of blow-out patches.

Health Department Had Busy Time During August

During the month of August the Ulster County Health Department conducted eight investigations of suspected outbreaks of disease in the county and five of them proved to be definite disease outbreaks and included three of gastroenteritis, one of external otitis and one of infectious hepatitis. Three of the most interesting cases were at summer resorts, one in Olive, one in Shandaken and one in Shawangunk.

The Olive outbreak was among children at a camp where an ear infection had been prevalent most of the season in a minor way. Camp officials finally reported the matter and it was discovered the bathing area was polluted with sewage from the camp. The pollution came from a broken sewage line and when the line was repaired the pollution ceased. At the Shandaken resort illness of several guests was found to be from a new source of cream which was sought when there was an influx of week-end guests and the regular cream supply was insufficient. Corrective steps were taken with the dairy which supplied the cream.

In Shawangunk children at the resort were ill of fever, chills, convulsions and nausea. It was learned a visitor at the resort had been ill prior to coming to the place and on return to the city was jaundiced. Inspection showed that the water supply had been poorly protected and there was some pollution but the water supply was ruled out as responsible for the outbreak of illness and it was determined the illness was from contact and the continued outbreak of cases indicated a 12 to 16 day incubation period for the illness.

Tumor Clinic Progress
Progress is reported on the Ulster County Tumor Clinic and the August report states that the authorities at Memorial Hospital, New York city, have submitted recommendations on the tumor clinic plans which have been sent to them. The plans are now in the hands of electrical engineers of two of the major X-ray supply houses and will be returned for final analysis and approval by the Tumor and Clinic committee.

Dr. George W. Weber, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, reports eight patients admitted in August, three of them being readmissions. There were eight discharges and one death. The average daily census was less than 55 patients.

In the Division of Public Health Nursing, Adele Didricksen, director, reports several changes in the nursing staff, including appointment of Barbara M. Baggis, R.N., and the resignation of Audrey A. Gillen, R.N., an apprentice public health nurse. Kathleen Shurter, R.N., who relieved for the summer left on August 13 and Estelle Modjeska, R.N., who had served as town nurse in Saugerties since 1929 retired on August 31. During the month Kathryn Payne, R.N., Education Consultant; Harriet Stevens, Nutritionist; and Helen Dondarowicz from the New York State Department of Health, visited during the month for the purpose of assisting with clinic work and the student program. Three doctors, Dr. Hammond, De la Paz and Dr. Alarilla observed with nurses in field and clinic work.

Dental Hygiene Clinics
Dental hygiene clinics were held in August as a part of the child health consultation in Kingston, Port Ewen, Woodstock, East Kingston and Accord. A total of 37 children were examined, 34 were given prophylaxis and 17 were found to be in need of dental care. Corrective care was started by three dentists.

In the Division of Environmental Sanitation, Harry F. Edinger, director, reports completion of routine annual inspections of resort, hotel and children's camps. Routine inspections of Port Ewen, Rosendale, Kerhonkson, Phoenicia and Big Indian water supplies were made. All water samples from public sources were satisfactory. The 12 square mile watershed of the Saugerties water system was inspected. Private homes and resorts in the area were surveyed. Approximately 1,400 people reside summers in this 12 square mile area which makes up the drainage area tributary to the Saugerties-Blue Mountain reservoir.

Milk Inspection
Milk inspection during the month showed a "general improvement in prepasteurized milk quality."

Two children's camps in the town of Plattekill, both operated by church groups from New York city, had made no application for permits to operate camps and when inspection disclosed that neither premises were fit for occupancy by children the camps were closed and the children returned to the city. Both camps plan to operate next year after improvements are made to the sewage and water systems. In Rochester an intestinal illness was traced to flood waters carrying sewage from a broken sewer into a spring which was being used.

The county department cooperated with the Division of Laboratories and Research in Albany in establishing pollen sampling stations to be operated in the towns of Woodstock and in the village of Pine Hill from August 12 to September 30. At Pine Hill the station in the past years has indicated an extraordinarily low pollen index and Pine Hill ranks with the few pollen free areas in the state. The Woodstock station is operated by the personnel of the Kingston water supply filtration plant, and supplements the Windham and Haines Falls stations.

Statistical Report
The statistical report shows 10 cases of chickenpox in August; 7 cases of measles. There were 24 cases of cancer reported in August and six deaths. There were 137 births reported. There were 84 deaths in August from the following causes:

Heart diseases 37; cerebral hemorrhage and apoplexy 9; cancer 6; automobile accidents 2; other violence 6; acute and chronic nephritis 4; diabetes 2; diarrhea and enteritis under age of two, 2.

During August there were 603 visits or inspections of resorts and 199 general investigations. The Kingston city meat inspector reports a total of 994 animals inspected as follows: cows 353, calves 640, sheep 1.

The Kingston plumbing inspector reports 3 applications for installations in new buildings; 30 at existing buildings; 32 preliminary inspections; 21 final inspections and five complaints received and investigated.

—Close Ups—

The Progressive Citizens of America, the Henry Wallace political party, is trying hard to crash newspaper headlines.

Perhaps its members will appreciate a few paragraphs of free publicity in this column, setting forth their expressed aims and also an aim or two which they have not publicly espoused.

At a recent meeting in Beverly Hills, after discrediting the U. S. flag in a comic skit and then madly applauding the red banner of Soviet Russia, the handpicked convention heard Communist front Robert W. Kenny announce those aims which are openly embraced by P.C.A., notably:

Get rid of "the very un-American Activities Committee" meaning the committee in the House of Representatives which has been exposing Communism. Quit hurting Stalin's feelings. Socialize U. S. coal mines, railroads, electric power and atomic energy.

Other speakers enlarged somewhat on this program by demanding:

That President Truman revoke the loyalty directive he issued last spring in a move—a phony move, as it turned out—to oust Communists from government positions.

That somebody free Gerhardt Eisler, popularly considered America's No. 1 Communist but described by P.C.A. speakers as a patriotic persecuted anti-Nazi refugee. Eisler was convicted recently of contempt of Congress.

I perceive some objectives which no P.C.A. speaker voiced at the convention:

To support Henry Wallace in his third-party threat, a drive to keep Truman backed into the far-left corner throughout the 1948 political campaign.

To mouth publicly the sentiments of the Communist Party and to distribute Communist literature.

Throughout the Beverly Hills convention stacks of Communist literature, including the Red daily, the People's World, were distributed from tables, and the same literature appears always to be lying in stacks on tables in P.C.A. headquarters in Hollywood for callers to take.

This convention was labeled

"Thought Control Conference" and I resume the label referred to the theme song, which repeated like a broken record that the John Rankins and Anti-Communist committees were threatening free speech in America. In view of the ardent concern of these P.C.A.-ers for that constitutional freedom, I found it interesting that they had gone to considerable lengths to screen attendance and that the majority of those admitted to the hall appeared to have been instructed in advance as to how to vote on each and every proposition.

The same old crowd of Reds who have been heading up one Red front after another for years in Hollywood were in control. The same old clichés were repeated in the same old stereotyped routines.

In fact, the stuff dished up at these Red roundups is so inbred it was obviously boresome to some of the top hands this time. They fought the air. The audience was spontaneous only on such occasions as the displaying of the Red flag. But for the few million Americans of foreign origin who brought their subversive ideology with them, it seems pretty certain that the Communist party would have great difficulty in building new fronts to carry its banners.

DON'T BE A WALLFLOWER

No social problem is harder to solve or more distressing from every angle than this question: "A man, merely to be polite, dances a whole dance with a girl. Then he finds that he either must leave her stranded or be her partner for the rest of the evening. What can be done?"

This situation, more than any other, is the reason for wallflowers. Men don't dare approach girls who are not outstandingly good dancers. The wise girl asks the man to leave her and the still wiser girl goes to a dance with a group of other girls and always insists upon returning to the group after each dance. Girls who do this regularly always have a wonderful time, because a man asking one of them to dance knows that he will be free to ask another to dance just as soon as the music stops.

No Rule of Inheritance

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a sister. She has a son, older than mine. Inasmuch as my son carries on the family name, should my family's silver be left to him or to my sister's son?

Answer: How can a woman carry on the family name? Between two daughters it seems to me a fair division would be in order.

The Organist

Dear Mrs. Post: If the organist is someone playing for a fee and not a personal friend, is he supposed to receive an invitation to the church? If so, should he also be invited to a big general reception afterwards?

Answer: He certainly needs no card of admission to the church! And since his presence is purely a professional one, a social invitation is not expected.

Mrs. Post's Booklet, No. 501

"The Etiquette of Weddings," contains helpful information giving full details for the ceremony and reception. To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Financial and Commercial

By T. E. APPELGATE

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Leading stocks turned to the downside in today's market without uncovering any real selling pressure.

A slight easing in some pivotal oils, stells and motors, which was in evidence almost from the start, expanded to encompass many of the other industrial issues and railroad shares. The movement failed to develop speed, and after a brief pick-up in activity the ticker tape reverted to a slow pace. Near the fourth hour declines of fractions to around a point outnumbered gains.

Commission houses said customers remained cautious, the absence of any stimulating new developments while some deferred selling was present and concern over profit prospects persisted. Carriers were hampered by uncertainty over action on a requested freight rate increase.

American Can touched a new 1947 low. Others retreating included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co., Owens-Illinois, Santa Fe, Great Northern Preferred, Union Pacific, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, American Water Works, Johns-Manville and International paper. Higher much of the day and establishing new highs for the year were Skelly Oil and American Wire & Cable. Commodities were mixed and bonds narrow.

last week on charges that they violated a federal kidnapping statute in the transporting of a West Virginia girl from Charleston, W. Va., to this city. Both men were taken to New York by U. S. marshals yesterday.

Federal Judge Stephen W. Brennan today signed a writ of habeas corpus, according to the Associated Press, calling for the appearance in court later today of Ferguelli for the purpose of testing the legality of the arrest and detention of that defendant on the kidnapping charge.

Four Arrests

The two men were removed from the county jail here for a federal detention prison in New York following the announcement from Charleston yesterday that a second woman, Mabel Lee Shannon, 19, of Charleston, was arrested there, making a total of four arrests in the case.

U. S. Commissioner W. H. Belcher, granting a week's continuance, according to the Associated Press, ordered the girl to appear next Monday for preliminary hearing on a charge of aiding and abetting in the kidnapping. She was returned to the Kanawha county jail in Charleston.

Martocci, who is charged with arranging for transportation of Ruth Virginia Fitzwater, 24, of South Charleston, from Charleston to Kingston last week, so that she would be unable to appear against him in court, is slated to appear before U. S. Commissioner Martin Comau in this city September 29.

Francis Martocci, Kingson, N. Y. attorney, who obtained the writ, contended that the arrest and detention of the defendant was not by virtue of any mandate or process of any court of the United States.

Ferguelli, brought to the Federal House of Detention last night from the Ulster county jail, was arrested on Sept. 17 as a suspect in the kidnapping and transporting of Ruth Virginia Fitzwater of South Charleston, W. Va., from Charleston, W. Va., to Kingston, N. Y.

The F.B.I. said the woman was to have been a government witness in a vice case in Charleston involving John Martocci, who was arrested last week with Ferguelli in Kingston.

Ferguelli, according to the Kingston attorney, was arrested without any warrant, complaint or other legal process and was held incommunicado at Kingston police headquarters for 14 hours before being arraigned on Sept. 18 before U. S. Commissioner Martin Comau of Kingston, who fixed bail at $10,000.

Hearing Waiver Withdrawn

A waiver of hearing, made by Ferguelli before the commissioner in Kingston, was withdrawn today by permission of Judge Brennan after Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin McLaughlin said the government did not have any objections.

Martocci told the court today that Ferguelli had not been advised of his constitutional rights, and had not been informed as to his right to counsel, nor was he represented by counsel at the time of arraignment.

Ferguelli, who was arrested and arraigned earlier was scheduled to be returned to the Southern District of West Virginia.

Under provisions of the federal laws, both men will be returned to the district in which the crime was allegedly committed, if they pleaded not guilty. The case could be disposed of in the New York district, or any other, it was learned, if they pleaded guilty.

girl played in the case, was at first apparently considered not important enough to hold her on a charge. She was questioned by the F.B.I. here after the others were arrested and then released.

Mrs. Lois Welch Cicero, 19, of Charleston, who was arrested in Charleston as the police picked up Morello here Friday, was reported to have posted $1,000 bond pending action of the November grand jury on the charges.

Withhold Details

Officers said Miss Shannon was arrested at Charleston Sunday night after her return from New York. They withheld details as to her alleged part in the case.

Deputy Marshall John C. Donovan was in charge of the two men who were taken from the local jail to New York yesterday.

Still Has Date Here

Martocci is still scheduled to appear before Comau here next Monday but any other U. S. commissioner or federal judge has concurrent jurisdiction on the case until it reaches trial, it was learned today.

Ferguelli, already has been directed to go to the Southern District in West Virginia, and he may be taken there unless a move by his attorney, Francis Martocci, is effective and he is returned here for another examination.

Martocci is represented by former District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, who said that he expects that the scheduled examination of the former Glasco boxer, will be held here instead of New York.

Detained as Witness

The Fitzwater girl, whose story to the local police, resulted in the arrests of the others, is still detained as a material witness at the local jail. She told the police that she was driven to this city from Charleston by Ferguelli and Mrs. Cicero. She held a subpoena, she said, for an appearance as a witness against Martocci who was slated to appear in court on a charge of operating a house of prostitution.

ness men and other civic minded residents are feeling toward the plan.

Lawrence J. MacAvery of the Walter Cunitz insurance agency is chairman of the survey committee, aided by Harold Cross, sales director for M. Reipa appliance firm, and Dale Schwartzmiller, secretary of the regional office, New York Department of Commerce.

Chairman MacAvery was directed to report back to the Lions Club in three weeks on the attitude of Kingstonians his committee interviews.

According to plans discussed at the meeting today, the exposition would be held in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, displaying merchandise made locally, products handled by city merchants, and also include educational exhibits, offering an opportunity to school pupils to take part.

In years when the expositions were popular heretofore, they were held at the old Kingston Fair Grounds uptown where the Kingston Municipal Stadium now stands. Usually the shows ran for a week or so, and drew thousands from the city and all sections of Ulster county and surrounding areas.

The proposal advanced by President Donnaruma at today's session, favoring revival of the event, was framed at an executive committee meeting of the Lions last night.

Another proposal made today was relative to the appearance here of the Freedom Train, a railroad exposition showing all of the important historic documents that played an important part in the progress of the United States as the leading democracy of the world.

Although the Lions are anxious to bring in the train for educational purposes, it was reported that Kingston may have to wait for at least 90 days on account of a busy schedule it is keeping all over the nation.

Aranha told reporters he had refused permission on the ground that "There will be one general debate—not two." Actually the list of speakers had been closed Friday night.

McNeill spiced his harsh words in dealing with Vishinsky's earlier address and bluntly blamed the Soviet Union for the condition in which the world finds itself today. He said that if present Russian policies continue the United Nations will be destroyed and "the unstable peace of the world will crumble and fall."

Dodgers Back Into Pennant at Midnight, as Cubs Beat Cards

Branch Rickey Predicts Long Reign for Flatbush Flock

By Joe Reichler, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers, only team ever to win a pennant at midnight, awoke this morning as official National League champions of 1947, and in the words of President Branch Rickey they'll be champions "for many years to come."

Not many of the Brooks were aware of the good news until today. Only those few who had stayed over at Brooklyn Pitcher Hugh Casey's restaurant learned last night that the long grind finally was over and that the Dodgers had backed into the pennant.

1947 Batting Titles Assured For H. Walker, Ted Williams

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Harry Walker of the Philadelphia Phillies and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox appear assured of winning the National and American batting championships going into the final week of the season.

Walker, the fellow the St. Louis Cards traded to Philadelphia for Ron Northey in early season, is hitting .362, enjoying a 47-point bulge over Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run king. Walker has been out of action with a sore back but is expected to play most of the club's remaining games.

Williams' average of .342, like Walker's based on averages including Sunday's games, seems to be enough to last him through the season ending September 28. The Red Sox slugger, making a late season spurt has a 14-point edge on Philadelphia's Barney McCosky in the race to succeed the defending champion, Mickey Vernon of Washington.

Runners Up Battles
In both leagues the chief contention is for the runner-up spot with six in as scrap for second in the National and six in the running behind Williams in the American.

Behind Kiner's second place .316 in the National come Augie Galan of Cincinnati, .314; Phil Cavarretta of Chicago, .313; Pete Reiser of Brooklyn, .312; Bob Elliott of Boston, .311 and Tommy Holmes of Boston .310, each separated by only one point. Walker Cooper of New York is eighth at .307 and Whitely Kurowski of St. Louis and Dixie Walker of Brooklyn, Harry's brother, are tied for ninth at .306.

McCosky, batting .328, has a strong challenger in Johnny Pesky of Boston whose 26-game hitting streak was snapped Sunday. Pesky is hitting .326. Dale Mitchell of Chicago, .322; Dale Mitchell of Cleveland, .321; George Kell of Detroit, .319 and Joe DiMaggio of New York, .318 have a chance to catch McCosky. Others in the top 10 in the American are Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, .310; Luke Appling of Chicago, .303; and Sam Rice of Boston, .305.

No Alibis, Says Dyer

St. Louis, Sept. 23 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals had bowed out of the National League pennant picture today in favor of their old rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The world champions of 1946 were eliminated last night by the Chicago Cubs and Johnny Schmitz, the same combination that defeated them in the last game of the 1946 season and forced them into the play-off which they won from the Dodgers.

In losing, 6 to 3, the Redbirds fell 7 1/2 games behind the league leaders, a deficiency it will be impossible to make up by the end of the season Sunday. The Birds have seven more games to play. The atmosphere in the clubhouse after the game was little different from that which prevailed after any other setback earlier in the season.

Dyer Reserved
Manager Eddie Dyer, a little more serious than usual, declined to offer any alibis over the team's failure to repeat as champions under his leadership.

"I'm not so good at making statements after a loss," he commented. "Anything I'd say would sound like an alibi, so I guess I better not say much. 'Naturally I'll wire Burt Shotton (Brooklyn manager) my congratulations as soon as possible. But about the Cards I'll say just this: Anyone who thinks this club or this organization is collapsing has another thought coming. Don't sell the Cardinals short next year."

Former Beats R. Sutliff 2 and 1 To Capture Class A Honors

Bernard A. "Bud" Culliton, who won his fame on the baseball diamond; Jack McCabe and Dr. Robert F. Moseley have been crowned 1947 fall club handicap champions at Twaitskill Golf Club in the tournament just completed.

Culliton, of the unorthodox stance, defeated Roy Sutliff, club president, 2 and 1, in the Class A finals, while McCabe trounced Dr. Rodney Ball, 4 and 3, for Class B honors; and Dr. R. F. Moseley edged Dr. John Olivet, 1 up, in Class C.

The competition was based on three quarters difference in handicaps and was over 18 holes of play.

Beats Four Aces
In winning the A title, Culliton polished off four Twaitskill "regulars" in J. R. "Dick" Miller, Jim Dwyer, Herman Gottfried and Roy Sutliff. He whipped the first three by the barest of margins, 1 up, before hanging a 2-1 loss on Sutliff.

McCabe defeated Fred J. K. Ertel, 1 up, in the quarter-finals. Harry Le Fevre, Jr., 3 and 2, in the semi-final round and then vanquished Dr. Ball, 4 and 3 in the B finals.

Dr. Moseley's victims in the last three rounds of the Class C bracket were: Dr. Bart Dutton, 2 and 1; Charles R. O'Connor, 2 and 1 and Dr. John Olivet in the finals, 1 up.

Roy Sutliff, who is winding up the 1947 with a burst of standout golf, eliminated Judge John M. Cashin, Walt Fitzgerald and A. B. Shufeldt, in his march to the Class A finals.

by the queen of diamonds.

At this point she led the four of clubs and when East put on the deuce, the nine was played from dummy and held the trick. The ace of clubs was cashed and a club trick conceded. With both the North and South hands holding trumps, and stripped of hearts and diamonds, Mrs. Guzman said that if the first club trick lost to West, there was no return that could defeat the contract. If she had made the mistake of trying to guess the location of the king of clubs, or if the ace of clubs had been cashed, followed by a club toward her queen, she would have cost two club tricks and her contract.

brakes were released. The plane started down the runway, lifted into the air, and when it reached 800 feet altitude the throttles were retarded to climb position.

The plane then climbed to 9,000 feet, and the throttles were pulled back to cruise position. At that time also the plane's radio picked up a directional beam from a picket or guide ship about a third of the way across the ocean.

'ADF' Does Trick

An automatic direction finder (known as "ADF") theropium actuated the controls to keep the plane headed directly toward the ship along the radio beam. When the plane reached the "cone of silence" or dead spot immediately above the ship, the receiver automatically tuned in another frequency and later to a third frequency, originating at the British airfield. When the plane reached the cone of silence, actually a part of the instrument landing system (or "ILS")—the radio, actuated a set of controls which retarded the throttles and cracked out the landing gear.

Then the plane homed on the glide path, a sloping beam which is part of the equipment at 100 or more airports in this country, and flew down to the runway. After allowing a certain time for roll following the touchdown of the wheels, the brakes were automatically applied.

The crew, which had done nothing for ten hours, taxied the plane off the runway.

price-increase would halt the trend to other markets.

Testimony that a fluid milk price of $5.90 would be required to cover production costs was given by Dr. K. E. Shaul, Cobleskill, N. Y., president of the Mutual Cooperative of Independent Producers of Ulster.

Frank Johnson of Little Falls, N.Y., president of Local 12892, United Dairy Farmers, District 50, United Mine Workers (A.F. L.) declared the blend price must be raised to $6 to insure milk production.

Mrs. Kirk H. Myers, Cato, N. Y., farm housewife, said that diminishing dairy returns prompt farmers "to sell out" and take advantage of high prices for beef cattle.

Gifford said the testimony would be transmitted to the agriculture secretary for decision.

Most Successful Horse Show Held

Woodstock, Sept. 23—Before the last horse was loaded into the trailer Sunday night, any eavesdropper could have heard members of the Woodstock Riding Club planning their Spring Horse Show. This, in spite of their having almost reached the point of exhaustion in putting over what was reputed to be the largest and best show of its kind held in Ulster county in many years.

Trucks and trailers as well as the sound of horses hoofs could be heard throughout the town of Woodstock from early morning on Sunday when in spite of threatening skies, 70 horses could be seen in the paddock of the Woodstock Riding Club, awaiting their call to the ring. In this group were three gaited, and other horses. No detail of perfect grooming had been overlooked. This was a very important event. The competition was keen as riders and mounts who have received recognition for their excellent performance in other shows, as well as for the coveted blue ribbons and championship awards.

There were only three championship and three reserve championship awards made, but happy too, were those who rode off with their blue, red, white and green ribbons, as well as trophies and cash awards made in the individual classes.

Auley Roosa, Kingston, won the championship in the three-gaited class with his Duchess. Reserve championship was awarded Harold VanVleet with Applejack. Leonard Roydout, West Coxsackie, on Oklahoma, Duke was stock class champion, while Joe Basch riding Toy Boy was reserve champion.

In the jumping class, Mrs. Haddon S. Robbins, Meadow Ridge Farm, Coxsackie, jumping The Sheik, and Bob Smith, Smith Brothers Riding Club, Saugerties, jumping Prince were tied for the championship. Boy Scout Drive

Contributions for the Boy Scouts annual fund raising campaign now total about $400 which the committee in charge considers very promising. The drive is continuing and it is hoped that every one in the community will make his donation as soon as possible. Many of the workers have not been able to see all of the persons on their lists but hope to do so with the next week.

Letter on LeGallienne

The following letter has been received by your correspondent from Anita M. Smith, Woodstock:

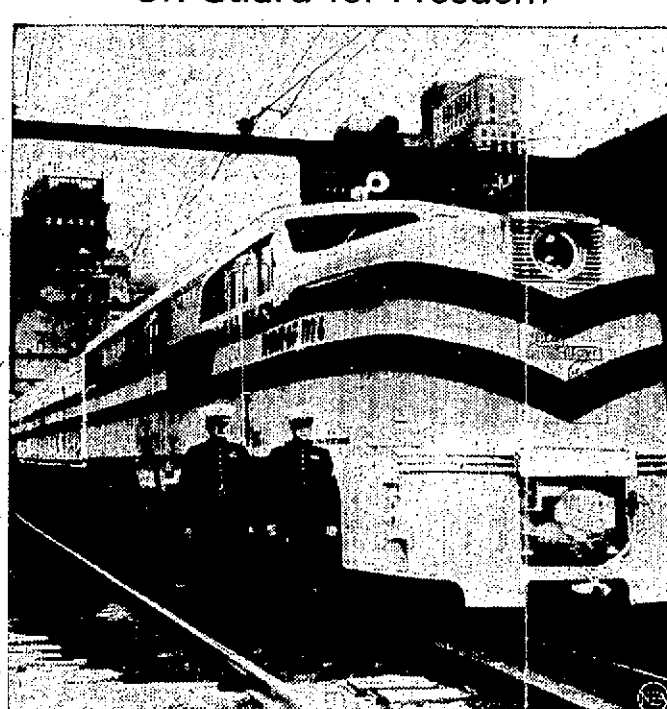

"Dear Mrs. Hard: Reading of the recent death of Richard LeGallienne in France I thought of the years he spent in Woodstock. Are there many who recall, as I do, his tall figure striding through the lanes and mountain paths, and can recall the ruffled gray hair above his finely modeled profile?"

"He came to Woodstock, not for the people, but for the beauty of our Catskill Mountains which are the pull that originally attracted all of the artist colony. I never spoke to Mr. LeGallienne, although our paths literally crossed many times for in those days we respected the privacy of others, and it was considered indecorous to interrupt another's work or create a disturbance without invitation. He lived for a while in the Birge Harrison house on lower Byrdcliffe and when he left there was an auction of some of his things at which I bought his copy of Longstreth's book on the Catskills. For several years LeGallienne lived far up in Mink Hollow. It was here he was visited by Bliss Carman, another poet who is more closely associated with these mountains. Carman also was thin and tall and used to tramp up and down the hills and through the forest. He wrote and lived every summer in Santa Cruz Park near Haines Falls and it was there he became a close friend of my family and his kind influence flamed my passionate love of this countryside. To add to one's appreciation of these mountains I urge everyone to read 'The Mountain Gateway' and the other poems by Bliss Carman."

"These two poets were friends, and I know at least once, Carman walked from Haines Falls to Elm Park, the old road that led over the mountain to Mink Hollow, to visit LeGallienne there on the high pasture. Carman was particularly fond of this route from the high Catskills to the Lake Hill valley. One day he arranged to meet my sister at the summit of the trail and accompanied her back to my studio overlooking Cooper's Lake. He was a delightful companion, full of information about the woods, as well as about Indian lore."

"Somewhere in the libraries there must be a booklet on the Woodstock area that contains a foreword by Richard LeGallienne."
